

POLYETHYLENE/POLYPROPYLENE BAGS

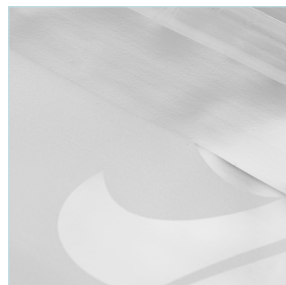

PE Bags (high or low density) is used for packaging a wide range of products. It is manufactured with several color materials, in different thickness and sizes, printed in several formats. Many manufacturing formats are provided also for this kind of bags: gusset, die-cut hole, loop-cut, self-sealing, etc. They are always manufactured to fulfill customer requirements.

Used for agricultural products, for shops, for promotional events (fairs and exhibitions). It is also necessary in radiology centers. Everybody can use and need such kind of bag.

It is printed according to customer requirements. Some opening systems can be added like easy-opening, seal-sealing, tear-notch, eurohole or round hole as well as other special cuts, according to customer needs.

POLYPROPYLENE BAGS

PP Bags provides an excellent brightness and clearness. It is specially developed to improve the visual characteristics of the product inside.

For this reason, it is mainly used in textile sector, where trademark and image of packaging are marketing/sale tools.

It is also widely used in food sector, for packaging products that must attract customer attention like: sweets, candies, cakes, pastries, bread, etc.

It is printed according to customer requirements. Some opening systems can be added like easy-opening, self-sealing, tear-touch, eurohole or round hole as well as other special cuts, according to customer needs.